

Lupicaia del Terriccio Technology for SCI Prize
INTERNATIONAL PRIZE FOR TECHNOLOGICAL ADVANCES
IN SPINAL CORD INJURY RESEARCH.

The Lupicaia del Terriccio International Prize for Technological Advances recognizes outstanding technological contribution, obtained by young researcher (under 40 years of age), aimed at advancing treatment, rehabilitation and assistance of people suffering by Spinal Cord Injury.

The prize will recognize the best technological result obtained in this field in the last 3 years.

The prize will be awarded by a committee chaired by Prof. Marco Molinari and composed by Prof. Paolo Mieli and the Chief Executive Officer of UK Spinal Cord Injury Association.

Applications with a brief description of the technology proposed for the prize, together with a full CV of the applicant has to be presented before 15/05/2018

The winner will receive 7000 euros and will be require to present his/her results and technology in a presentation to be given at Lupicaia del Terriccio, in Tuscany, on 16/06/2018.

Marco Molinari MD PhD

Director Neurorehabilitation 1 and Spinal Center

Director Clinical Translational Research

Head NeuroRobot Rehabilitation Lab

IRCCS Fondazione Santa Lucia